

Weary In Paradise

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (U)—True angels may never become weary in Paradise.

"But actresses who play angelic roles do sometimes get good and sick of them. One of them right now is Martha Scott, who is suffering from a bad case of too much sweetness and light."

Martha has been wearing wings on stage and screen for some years now, and she'd like to shed them for a while.

"I have known Miss Scott from the time she was a schoolgirl studying biology in Kansas City—book biology, that is. When I met her for lunch the other day I told her, 'Martha, you're still just as pretty as the girl next door.'"

"Well, I meant it as a compliment, and a true one. Martha has a fragile beauty that never fades. But my remark had the same effect on her as if I had stepped on her small toes with my big size 10 shoes."

"You're as bad as all the others," she said reproachfully, nergled green-green-blue eyes clouding.

"What do you mean?"

"I mean that little-girl-next-door business," she said. "I've had about all I can take of being the little girl next door. I want to try playing that mean but fascinating lady who lives in the penthouse."

Martha, who actually does hail originally from a small Missouri town with the unlikely name of Gee's Creek, started her radio career as "a ten-buck scream" in a ghost story starring Orson Welles.

Earlier, as a member of a Shakespearean repertory at the Chicago World's Fair, she had enjoyed blackening her teeth to play one of the witches in "MacBeth."

The sweetness-and-light blight descended on her when she first starred on Broadway as Emily Webb, the sweet doomed young heroine of Thornton Wilder's play, "Our Town."

It deepened when Hollywood starred her in "Miss Bishop," a

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

This article was prepared by association of Victor Riesel in collaboration with him. Mr. Riesel, blinded by acid thrown by a criminal to still his voice and blunt his pen, will return to his syndicate desk upon recuperation.

Nothing is louder than a long silence from John L. Lewis. And he has been silent for quite some time, which can only mean he is up to something big. His colorful "spectacular" might be a march back into the AFL-CIO with his 400,000 miners.

This is no remote possibility. Mr. Lewis is now giving serious consideration to the move. There are those in Washington who are convinced that it would take only a slight show of warmth from AFL-CIO president George Meany to bring the white-maned old labor lion back to the hyphenated organizations which he once dominated.

And Mr. Meany — one of the few men to hit back at Mr. Lewis in blunt words from which even the master of the Shakespearean barb shrunk — has been easing up since their verbal debate at the AFL convention in San Francisco in 1947. There has been no running public feud. Mr. Meany seems to have mellowed in his attitude.

FOR MR. LEWIS, a return to the new marble palace of labor would be a natural. Now 76, the old miners' chief has few surprises left with which to stir the public. Relations with the coal industry are at an all-time peace level. There are no major strikes looming. And there are only a few moments when Mr. Lewis will make news. For example, on June 2 he will formally dedicate his chain of 10 hospitals in Beckley, W. Va. — but that won't be exactly world-shaking.

Politically, Mr. Lewis no longer speaks for American labor and cannot throw his weight around on the national level. His political influence is restricted for the most part now to Pennsylvania and West Virginia. From many points of view a dramatic return by John L. to the united labor organization would make headlines — and sense.

Mr. Lewis would then be in a position to take on the one man he hates most inside labor — Walter Reuther. And Mr. Lewis could do it. For one thing he would rally behind him even many of the old CIO officials who today stand with Mr. Reuther against Mr. Meany and the old AFL leaders.

Thursday evening with the president, Mrs. John King in charge of the business session. Mrs. T. C. Riddle had charge of the devotionals. Mrs. Don Weikart, Mrs. Walter Warner and Mrs. Blanch Weikart will be the June hostesses.

The Missionary Society of the Lutheran Church met Tuesday evening in the social room of the church with 11 members present. Entertainment featured a film show on "Boys and Girls around the World Share the Bible." Mrs. Elizabeth DeJane was presented a gift for Mother's Day. The next meeting will be on June 5.

The Skip-a-Week club was entertained in the home of Mrs. Harry Bell recently when Mrs. Raymond Wetzel, Mrs. Henry Dermott, Mrs. Russell Smith and Mrs. Donald McGaffie shared honors in 500. Mrs. Charles Grindle will entertain the club in two weeks.

The class ordered a plant to be sent to Mrs. Walter Berg's mother who is a shut-in for Mother's Day. The class will hold its next meeting on the second Wednesday in July.

Mrs. Albert Spear entertained the Fortnightly club in her home Thursday evening with Mrs. Sadie Spear, Mrs. J. A. Stouffer and Mrs. Fred Girard winning honors in euchre. Mrs. J. A. Stouffer will entertain the club in two weeks.

The Kindergarten Mothers Club will meet at the High School in the Home Economics room on Tuesday evening, May 15 at 8 p.m. to welcome the new mothers into the club following the meeting the club will have a "coffee hour."

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Spear and family and Mrs. Margaret Spear were supper guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Spear of Youngstown on Tuesday evening honoring the birthday of their aunt, Mrs. Minnie Denner of Youngstown.

The W.S.C.S. of the Methodist Church held their regular meeting in the social room of the church and his contributions toward labor unity.

THE ILGWU LEADER described Mr. Lewis in these terms: "During the period of his re-affiliation with the AFL, John L. Lewis... once more displayed his dynamism and his ability to give leadership to leaders. Mr. Lewis was a driving force behind decisions to purchase ground and to erect the recently dedicated AFL headquarters, to set up a nationwide labor radio program, to launch a political league, to increase the per capita dues, etc."

Mr. Dubinsky wound up by saying, "We are CONFIDENT that before long the United Mine Workers... will become part of the united labor movement."

The Garment Workers' chief rarely talks through his union-made hat. If he is "confident," he must know something.

THE ODDS ARE that he won't announce it then either. He is more apt to wait either for a convention or an executive council meeting of the AFL-CIO. Then he'll move in to steal away the headlines with his rolling — phrasal — announcement that he is back again.

There are interesting straws-in-the-wind in this connection, particularly from the International Ladies Garment Workers Union convention now going on in Atlantic City.

There, peppery David Dubinsky, president of the ILGWU and one of the best informed and most statesmanlike union leaders around, has offered a significant hint about Mr. Lewis' return.

Mr. Dubinsky never talks idly in public. And he seldom uses words loosely when he knows he might be quoted. In his report to the convention, Mr. Dubinsky went out of his way to pay tribute to Mr. Lewis for his many achievements and his contributions toward labor unity.

Civil War Vet Is 110 Today

To Don His Uniform, Greet Well-Wishers

FT. BLACKMORE, Va. (AP)—This tiny southwest Virginia town basked once more today in the reflected glory of an old, old man.

It was the 110th birthday of John B. Salling, one of four remaining Civil War survivors.

Given good weather, the genial, black-haired old soldier expected to don his Confederate uniform, clamp a cigar in his mouth and go to the front porch in his wheel chair to greet the friends and well-wishers who usually drop around on his birthday.

And there was one thing you could bet on. He'd be wearing a hat.

Salling attributes his jet black hair to wearing a hat and never washing his hair.

The "General," as he's known to his friends, still has good eyesight, but his hearing is poor.

He can't get around by himself any more, but he retains a hearty laugh, still smokes two or three cigars a day and eats well.

The presents for Salling today included a Confederate shirt to go with his uniform and a 10-gallon hat. The uniform was given to him several years ago. The shirt is a gift of Virginia Gov. Thomas B. Stanley; the hat was sent by the Texas Rangers.

Salling's Civil War service was limited to digging saltpeter, which was used in the manufacture of gunpowder.

However, nobody dares belittle his service. The old Rebel asserts that he was in a company commanded by Capt. Lon Collins, and that he dug saltpeter for Gen. Robert E. Lee himself.

Salling is one of three surviving veterans of the Confederate Army. The others are William Allen Lundy of Crestview, Fla., and W. W. Williams of Franklin, Tex. The only surviving Union Army veteran is Albert Woolson of Duluth, Minn.

Actress Martha Raye Being Sued For Divorce

NEW YORK (AP)—Comedienne Martha Raye has been served with a notice that her fifth husband, dancer Ed Begley, plans to sue her for divorce.

Adultery is the only ground for divorce in New York.

Nick Condos, Miss Raye's manager and one of her ex-husbands, said a process server showed up at a Brooklyn hotel where the comedienne is staying. He said Miss Raye willingly went to the hotel lobby to accept the papers.

In Westport, Conn., a $50,000 alienation of affections suit is pending against Miss Raye. The suit was filed by the wife of a Westport patrolman who once worked for Miss Raye as a bodyguard.

Kiroff will serve until Dec. 31, 1957.

Modern Warfare Getting Quicker Than The Eye

OMAHA (AP)—Modern warfare is getting quicker than the eye, says Capt. H. E. Ramsden, optometrist at Strategic Air Command. Two high-speed aircraft, coming out of the clouds half a mile apart, can crash before the pilots can see and recognize the other and turn their planes, he told the Nebraska Optometric Convention.

This world is a colorful place. Why not record it as you see it, on color film? Haven't you noticed how color snapshots in your album (or color slides on your screen) bring back moments and scenes with almost unbelievable realism? Color really does make a world of difference.

And color film has really grown up. It's no longer limited to use in complex, expensive cameras. You can get it in sizes to fit virtually every camera, new or old.

Basically, there are two kinds of color film; one to make color snapshots or prints, and the other for making color transparencies like slides. Newest color film is Kodacolor CU Film for making color snapshots. This is the very first color film ever produced that you can use both in daylight, or with flash—without the need for filters or special flashbulbs.

Now, as never before, even the most casual snapshot can have this colorful world completely at his command.

Supreme Court Reverses Itself, $90,000 Suit To Be Reheard

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—"Oh, I've been disappointed so many times, one of us has kind of got to keep from going to pieces."

The Supreme Court's decision Monday was 5-4. Last fall it was 5-4 in upholding Cahill's award.

The justice who changed his mind and swung the court the other way Monday was Sherman Minton.

The minority four protested reopening the case and sending it back to the lower court. "There should be a finality somewhere," the minority opinion said.

Cahill was injured by a truck that started up suddenly while he was flagging traffic behind a stalled train here. He claimed he was told to work in a dangerous place without being warned.

A District Court jury awarded him $90,000.

Then a Circuit Court reversed the award and last Nov. 21 the Supreme Court upheld the award.

But in March the railroad asked the Supreme Court to send the case back to the Circuit Court for consideration of a single point—whether the trial judge properly admitted evidence of previous accidents at the spot where Cahill was injured.

Now the Supreme Court has sent the case back, saying, "We deem our original order erroneous and recall it in the interests of fairness."

"I'll be honest with you," he said. "I have three children, and I bought a piece of property and I'm building a nominally priced house on it, about $12,000."

"I paid all my bills, about $20,000, and I bought a station wagon. I haven't even bought a suit of clothes for myself."

As Cahill talked to the reporter on the telephone, a woman at his home started to sob in the background.

"That's my wife," Cahill said. "I'll have to hang up now."

Preferential Treatment For Tickets Is Halted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Trustees of Ohio State University Monday voted to cease giving preferential treatment to all but one group of OSU football ticket purchasers.

The excepted group includes those "patrons" who gave $5,000 or more to the stadium's building fund at the time the stadium was under construction.

Charles F. Kettering, General Motors executive and an Ohio State trustee, suggested closed circuit television might be a solution for fans who cannot get tickets to OSU games.

He said television could be set up in St. John's Arena near the stadium, and tickets sold for the televised games.

Urge More Motels Be Listed In Pike Folder

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Turnpike Commission is studying a request that it list more motels in its travel folders for passengers using the Northern Ohio toll road.

The area affected by the request is a 90-mile stretch between the Elyria and Stony Ridge-Toledo traffic interchanges.

The president of the Ohio Motel Assn., William Olpp, conferred with James D. Hartshorn, the commission's public relations chief, and handed Hartshorn a letter from the Sandusky County Chamber of Commerce claiming not enough motels were listed in the folders.

At present, the commission does not list motels more than 5 1/2 miles away from a toll plaza on the ground it would be inconvenient to drive farther than that off the turnpike.

Slow Fuse For Parris Island

Everything done by the high command of the U.S. Marine Corps to make up for the Parris Island disciplinary maneuver that killed six trainees early in April was so prompt and logical it added up to an impression of complete good faith.

But a sour note has been struck.

The new regime ordered by Gen. Randolph McCall Pate is taking over in an atmosphere of hostility, according to Associated Press. The junior officers and drill instructors who were put on the spot by the accident are reported to feel that Gen. Pate has gone overboard in his attempt to atone for it and has made Maj. Gen. J. C. Burger the goat by relieving him of command merely because he was in charge when the accident happened.

This is not the picture of Parris Island's atonement that was painted in Gen. Pate's report to Congress. Nor is it the picture visualized by citizens whose confidence in the Marines was bolstered by assurance that they could be toughened without being degraded or brutalized.

Five-Horned Dilemma

The British in Cyprus are in a dilemma from which there is no escape. They cannot win, although they could lose. They cannot get credit for muddling through and taking their lumps, but they can be sure of worldwide censure for muddling at all.

As long as the United States is going to share British grief in its own role as protector of the Mediterranean and Britain's ally, it must be prepared for censure too. Like Britain, the United States has no answers either.

The Cyprus dilemma has five horns, all sharp and strong. They are the Greeks, who want self-rule; the Turks, who want British rule; the Russians, who would like to see Cyprus put up for grabs; the United States, which wants to keep Cyprus safe for NATO but is embarrassed by being in the position of striking down the democratic doctrine of self-determination, and last, the force of public opinion that has risen steadily against the British credo that John Bull knows best and if he decrees that hanging is none too good for a local patriot he has the right to spring the trap and no questions asked.

The Cyprites, as a matter of fact, asked no questions. For two of their own hanged by Britain, they merely hanged two Britishers and promised more of the same.

Britain can't win, nor can it afford to lose. Even Dag Hammarskjöld could not escape from this dilemma.

Guaranteed Flood Relief

Whether or not it is flood insurance or flood relief that the Senate approved by a 61-7 vote last Thursday is hard to decide.

Insurance companies have not considered flood disasters to be insurable, except on a high-premium gambling basis such as appeals to Lloyd's of London, which will take a chance on anything at the right odds.

With the federal government subsidizing two-fifths of the cost for the first three years and splitting the subsidy with states after that, flood insurance may prove attractive to insurance companies. It may even prove attractive to citizens living in high-risk areas subject to recurrent flooding, although it will not be easy to wean them from the idea they will be taken care of in case of disaster by special flood-relief campaigns.

The Senate vote shows strong determination to set up a semi-public program of guaranteed flood relief, with potential beneficiaries paying 60 per cent of the estimated cost of covering the risk and the rest of us paying the remainder.

Whether this is insurance or prepaid disaster relief for flood victims is iffy. It looks like prepaid disaster relief — a down payment on the high cost of high water.

Reliable Col. Blimp

Unless there is an unexpected change for the better in the mystery of British frogman Lionel Crab's disappearance last month under or near a Russian cruiser anchored in Portsmouth Bay, only one conclusion can be reached.

Reliable Col. Blimp, the world-famous defender of the obvious and advocate of the wholly expected maneuver must have been at work. Only a Blimpish mind could have thought up anything as crude as messing around the hull of a Russian cruiser on a friendly visit. It was exactly what the Russians expected; their frogmen were waiting.

Col. Blimp, created by David Low, Britain's famous cartoonist, would not have thought of that eventuality. That's why he is reliable. His moods and moves can be predicted with certainty.

It's a pity no U. S. cartoonist has invented his counterpart for American convenience — the fellow who always moves in a straight line from the obvious to the ridiculous. We know him well.

Elusive Millenium

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Two Views Of New Russia Emerge From England

Two views on world peace that might seem at first glance to be diametrically opposite came out of Britain a few days ago.

Lawrence

One was the suggestion from Sir Winston Churchill that maybe in time, if the Russians behave, the Soviet government should be admitted to the North Atlantic Treaty organization.

The other—expressed by "The Manchester Guardian," a liberal newspaper in England—was that this same organization is "falling apart militarily" and that it is important now for the Western powers to reaffirm the policy of "massive retaliation."

What Sir Winston said was couched in the vaguest of phrases but it may well be that he had his tongue in his cheek when he declared that "We have a new Russia to deal with, and I do not myself see why, if this is so, the new Russia should not join in the spirit of this solemn agreement"—the Atlantic alliance against a gression.

The former prime minister warns, of course, that "It would be fatal for NATO now to relax and let apathy overtake what has been achieved."

IT WILL BE ASKED, if the Russians became virtuous and saintly, then what purpose does NATO serve? To resist what potential aggressor would its military organization be maintained? Also, the moment the Soviet Union abandons its aggressor policies and stops abusing the veto power, why isn't the United Nations available to keep the peace of the world and even enforce it, as its charter provides? Doesn't NATO become superfluous in the hour when Soviet Russia becomes a real democracy and overthrows its dictatorship?

Maybe Sir Winston, consciously or unconsciously, was encouraging the many elements inside Soviet Russia and the satellite states who hope some day to oust the present regime in the Kremlin. If he was looking forward to such a day and not as a maneuver that would appease an unrepentant regime which still drips with the blood of 33,000 American boys killed in Korea, then the plan for a universal NATO would seem to make sense.

In the meantime what? There is danger that preoccupation with dreams which have not yet come true can bring about the very relaxation that Sir Winston cautions against. The most realistic appraisal of this phase of the international situation has come in the editorial in "The Manchester Guardian," of May 2, which says in part:

"MUCH HAS BEEN said of the non-military questions which the North Atlantic Council will discuss this week, but little has been said of its military business. Mr.

Dulles, M. Mollet and Mr. Pearson have talked of broadening NATO into political and economic fields. Nobody, however, has said anything in public about the disagreeable military facts which the council ought to face.

"When Mr. Dulles says that 'The unanimity of our thinking about the great basic issues makes it apparent that the time has come to advance NATO from its initial phase into the totality of its meaning,' he means that, militarily, NATO is falling apart."

The editorial goes on to say that the French have stripped their NATO contingents in Europe to deal with the rebellion in Algiers, that the West Germans have failed to pay their share of common defense costs, that the Belgians and the Dutch are deaf to Gen. Gruenther's renewed appeals for a two-year period of conscription and that Gen. Gruenther's successor isn't going to get the troops which were promised for the common defense.

IT IS FURTHER emphasized that, militarily, the 12 existing divisions of NATO are ineffective and that the time has come to devise a new strategy. It is then pointedly asked if it is really necessary "for the British and Americans to continue to spend a large amount of money on their forces in Germany?"

"Perhaps not," answers the "Guardian." "For defense of the central front in Europe, we might rely chiefly on the threat of massive retaliation—which in fact is what we are now doing anyway. The threat might be more effective, as a defense, if it were explicitly acknowledged."

"If it is correct that the Russians have abandoned thought of direct military advance in Europe, as many people seem to think, the threat of massive retaliation is an adequate protection, and we do not need the Rhine armies. If that is not correct, and it might not be, we had better not try to bluff with Gen. Gruenther's skeleton forces."

THE EDITORIAL concedes that if the Soviet began "nibbling at points on the periphery," this could not be met by "massive retaliation" because it might mean all-out war but that the remedy lies "in a small number of highly mobile units, available to do at once to any threatened part of the NATO area."

This could be construed as support for the idea of more mobile bases such as the modern aircraft carriers of the British and American navies provide. But, broadly speaking, the "Guardian" editorial ties in also with the increasing demand here in Congress for an intercontinental air force of long range bombers which by the threat of "massive retaliation," can serve as a deterrent to full-scale aggression.

What it all adds up to is a realization that the millenium is still far away. For Sir Winston's vision of a "new Russia" is in itself a paradox in these days of distrust and misgiving about the real intent of the unregenerated rulers in the Kremlin.

Purely Personal

By TRUMAN TWILL

The depth of frustration, as far as I am concerned, is a continuous busy signal on a telephone number you are trying to call.

Weather, I feel certain, has more to do with human events than is realized. No one is ever at his best, for example, when the humidity is high.

If Herman Talmadge is as knowledgeable as they say he is, he knows that extravagant praise for Georgia's Sen. George, after George pulled out of the race with old Gene Talmadge's son for a Senate seat, was meant to be a backhanded slap at the white-supremacy son of one of the South's most ruthless rabble-rousers.

I think I have seen the beginning of the end of a style in men's shoes — the multi-layered oxford. The new idea is to hold men's low-cut shoes together with one or two strands, and it is a great improvement over everything that has gone before.

I like cheesecake pictures as much as the next popeyed male, but I am disgusted with photographic females who display themselves for publicity and with photographers who encourage their acts of bad taste.

There are nights when everything on television seems like a senseless mish-mash of noise. Yet, stuff of no greater value may seem highly entertaining some other night. It all depends on how you feel.

It seems to me there would be a market for a booklet telling how to get from one place to another by automobile—directions by route numbers, and distances instead of by maps. I have difficulty comprehending maps, and I believe this is true of most people who use them for automobile trips.

One of the most exciting smells of springtime, in my belief, is the blend that comes out of an old attic whose treasures have been warmed up by hot sunshine on the roof overhead.

I always expect to cry copiously at graduation exercises and have been doing so for years, starting with my own graduation from high school, away back there the year the flies were so bad.

Most traffic diodes do not upset me, but I get furious when a driver who intends to turn right passes me, instead of lagging behind until he can make his right turn in the natural course of events.

It makes me feel older than I really am to recall that our set used to buy cinnamon bark and eat it as a confection, defying a common belief that our blood would dry up if we weren't careful.

Small Business Hokum

By RAYMOND MOLEY

A most prolific source of political crocodile tears is what is called "small business." The fact that the term is ambiguous makes it very useful in political jargon. Somehow, by twisting either the facts or an anticipation of the facts, a party out of power is always able to indict a party in power.

I offer four samples of the sort of thing that passes for debate on that subject in this momentous election year.

My first witness is former President Truman, who since he left office and thus lacks a vast bureaucracy to provide him with figures, just lashes out without any proof at all. He said recently in Des Moines: "Small business is being ruined. Really, the only people who haven't been massed up are G. M., big business, and the stock market gamblers."

The fact is that the total number of business failures in 1955 was 10,968. It was 11,066 in 1954. The rate of failures per 10,000 businesses for 1955 was 42. For the 35-year period since 1900 the rate was 70 per 10,000. Since this statement about "ruin" was made by the man who was President from 1945 to 1953, it is important to note that the rate of failures per 10,000 started to rise in 1945 and, with the exception of one year, continued to rise until the first full year that Mr. Truman was back in Independence.

Sen. Sparkman, a man whose heart goes out to the little fellows, recently took exception to the report of the Small Business Administration submitted in March by Wendell B. Barnes, administrator of the agency.

The senator, at a hearing of the Senate Small Business Committee, said that he had read the Barnes report and was greatly disturbed thereby. He said that in many "vital particulars" the report was at odds with "the conclusions" of his Small Business Committee. Therefore, it was difficult for him to accept a document which showed that the small businessman had been well off in the past year.

The figures I have just quoted were not manufactured by the Small Business Administration.

They are Dun & Bradstreet figures and were quoted in the SEA report. What Sen. Sparkman says is that if Dun & Bradstreet disagree with the "conclusions"—i.e., the guesses of his committee—then Dun & Bradstreet must be wrong.

My third exhibit is the Hon. James Roosevelt. He says that "The failures at the rate of 42 for every 10,000 (cited in the report) was greater than the average for the 20 years beginning in 1933." The way Congressman Roosevelt gives this is to include the war years, in which practically no small business could fail, and to cut off the Eisenhower years from his average.

He claimed that "65,000 bankruptcies cases will be filed in 1955" and "an increase to 75,000 in 1956 can be expected." The fact is that the number of 1955 was not 65,000 but 39,404, and that the estimate for 1956 is 61,000, not 75,000. Thus, while figures can't lie, the Hon. James Roosevelt can figure.

The cream of the jest was a colloquy between the son of another famous father, Sen. Long of Louisiana, and Administrator Barnes.

Mr. Barnes was offering some figures to show the remarkable collections on the loans he had made, and the small number of losses experienced by the agency. This he considered a record to be proud of. But Sen. Long disagreed. He said: "We are not setting up this administration to make money."

Sen. Long's point was that the administration ought to lose more money. Mr. Barnes, who was anxious to please the senators, hastened to add that Sen. Long's wish might yet be fulfilled. He assured him that the losses would surely increase. In short, give him time and he would make enough bad loans to please any senator.

Just to show that things were going the way the senators apparently thought best, Mr. Barnes made a statement since then that the Small Business Administration was almost broke and needed more money. No doubt, the senator from Louisiana will rest easier after hearing that.

It is of such stuff that politics "are made of." And, to manhandle Shakespeare a bit more, "a little life is rounded with"—a deficit.

Higher Prices Coming

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Consumers are on notice today that this fall they can expect higher prices on autos, shoes and men's and boys' suits. They hear considerable muttering that other things ought to have higher price tags, too.

These stories are the most confusing to some because they often appear in newspapers that are advertising store price cutting to move sticky merchandise or dealers' concessions to move unsold new cars.

"If goods don't move at present prices," some ask, "How can they expect to sell the new ones at higher prices?"

The honest answer to that might be: "It isn't so much that they expect to sell them as that they hope to. Some things consumers have to buy. But there's a growing number of things that they buy only when they want them badly enough, and when they feel they can afford them, or when they sense a bargain."

Merchants and dealers know this. They know that some customers always buy their clothing at the markdown sales at the end of the season. They know that the auto factory's list price is only the point at which the bargaining begins.

But they also know that many people will pay the higher prices next fall because they want to be the first to have the new styles, the new models.

The reasons that prices on these things are going up where there are no shortages in their supply and when demand is either steady or poor, are interesting.

Take cars. The trail is a long one. In a sense this fall's boost, if it comes, will be the result of the inflation of the 1940's still catching up. It works this way: Steel furnaces have a long life, but the time comes when they give out or become obsolete and hence unprofitable. Steel men say they must spend hundreds of millions of dollars a year just to replace these old furnaces, let alone build new capacity they need.

But the rub comes in this: The furnace that may have cost 10 million dollars to build will cost 64 million to replace—war and postwar inflation have seen to that. Inflation may have been halted some time back, but its delayed effects are still popping up.

This inflated cost of building steel mills is one of the many reasons steel men give for needing to hike steel prices.

The average car uses about a ton of various steel products. So if the price of these steel items goes up, auto makers say that will be one of a number of reasons that the price of the new models must be higher next fall.

The reason given for a price hike in men's and boys' suits this fall, of from 75 cents to $2.50 at retail, is that on May 1 there was a general wage hike in the industry of 12½ cents an hour. These workers are now turning out next fall's suits. With few exceptions, clothing manufacturers have hiked their prices by 3 to 6 per cent. Retailers are reported ordering in good volume and showing little fear of buyer resistance in the fall.

Rising wage scales, however, don't always mean a corresponding price rise. Often productivity rises at the same time, holding costs down. And when sales are booming, as now in many lines, a little margin on each unit adds up to a satisfactory gross profit.

In the American economy there'll always be price changes. At the same time there'll always be markdowns, clearance sales, and bargains to hunt for.

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Don't You Remember

Russia now claims that it was first with the wireless and that it was the invention of Alexander Popov. Dr. Z. Willoughby Research, our expert in all such matters, says this is correct. "I remember the Popovs very well. There were three, and this was the one in the middle," he says. "One Popov invented the telephone, the talking machine and movies. Another gave the world the first steamboat, the cotton gin, the electric light, the zipper and insulin. Alexander was content with the radio, the submarine, telegraphy and the electric milkshaker. He made the first radio sending apparatus in Omsk while playing chess."

"IT WAS RATHER CLUMSY. The ice cubes were too small and when the gas failed the operator had to use a dry battery or ball pen. The first words tried in the experiments were 'Capitalistic dog!' And to this day the U.S.S.R. likes it better than anything sent since."

In fact, Moscow didn't care much for the wireless instrument but loved those two words. It was first used at sea when a Russian caviar boat struck a submerged full beard. It flashed the message: "Come at once and bring confession." The sea sled did not understand, as it was being operated by remote agenda.

"Why didn't Russia have the first household radio?" we asked.

"It did," said Willoughby. "It was called Popov's Popin and Popout Machine. No aerial. It worked by provocative gestures. Ah, those early Soviet radio programs!"

"What were they?"

"Don't tell me you don't remember the Unhappiness Boys, the Siberian Ginger ale eskimos, Amos and Andrei, Kate Smidnikov and Georgi and Sonia Allen."

"How did it all work out?"

"Oh, the voices didn't come through but you could always go to the Russian Embassy and find out whether it was music, dialogue, propaganda or pure imagination," said Willoughby.

"Whatever became of Popov?" we asked.

Kefauver, Ike To Gain Delegates

Gov. Harriman Gets Support In Wyoming

By The Associated Press
Nebraska residents vote today in a primary election that assured presidential preference victories for President Eisenhower and Sen. Estes Kefauver.

In Wyoming, Gov. Averell Harriman of New York picked up support for the Democratic presidential nomination, which he says he is not actively seeking.

President Eisenhower is unopposed in the Nebraska GOP presidential preference balloting and Kefauver had the field to himself on the Democratic side. Write-in votes are permitted, but no organized appeal has been made for them.

Any rural dissatisfaction with administration farm policies could appear in a marked variation from the usual 2-1 Republican margin in recent primaries, but even Sen. Kefauver's supporters said they expect no such results.

The preference voting is not binding on the 18 Republican and 12 Democratic convention delegates to be selected.

In Wyoming, Democrats Monday elected a 14-vote delegation to the national convention. Eleven delegates with 5½ votes said they favored Harriman for the presidential nomination.

Eleven other delegates said they were undecided, four said they are for Kefauver, one was for Adlai Stevenson and one for Sen. Symington of Missouri. None of the delegates was instructed by the convention. Each has half a vote.

Harriman, who made the keynote address for the Wyoming convention, repeated that he is not an active candidate for the nomination, but said "I'd be mighty proud" if people of Wyoming wished to support him.

Wyoming Republicans elected a 12-man delegation to their own national convention, all supporters of an Eisenhower-Nixon ticket.

In Oregon, Stevenson said he was not surprised to hear of Harriman's statement "I have understood that the (K) was a candidate since his announcement last October," Stevenson said, apparently referring to Harriman's oft-repeated statement that he is "not an active" candidate.

Stevenson was campaigning for votes in Oregon's May 18 primary election, in which he is opposed by Kefauver for Democratic write-in votes. Both men are scheduled to appear on the same platform in Eugene, Ore., tonight.

Speaking in Hillsboro, Ore., Stevenson Monday night renewed criticism of administration farm policy and of Vice President Nixon.

Nixon, he said, becomes "increasingly embarrassing" to the GOP, "and I would not be surprised if they will have found means of extricating themselves from his embrace." Democrats have been concentrating on what they term unethical campaign tactics allegedly employed by the vice president.

Kefauver, in California, renewed his own criticism of the government security program, noting he had voted against security legislation sponsored by Nixon when Nixon was a senator. Kefauver said the legislation went far beyond actual needs.

Harriman moved on from Wyoming to Missoula, Mont., where he said Eisenhower's policies "are throttling the growth of the West by abandoning great public projects."

In Washington, Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler said Eisenhower's appeal to the voters has "sagged," and does not rub off on other Republican candidates.

In the party publication, the Democratic Digest, Butler said that under Eisenhower, "the Republican party has lost more ground and more elections than under any other Republican president in history."

In Rhode Island, the GOP state convention named a slate of 14 delegates and 14 alternates to the Republican National Convention. All were pledged to support the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket.

In Missouri, a total of 22 GOP convention delegates had been selected Monday, all of them pledged to Eisenhower and Nixon or supporting such a ticket. Ten more at-large delegates are to be chosen.

CLEVELAND (AP) — A strike by 32,000 building trade unionists entered its third week today with 1½ cents an hour difference separating representatives of 15 unions and the Building Trades Employers Assn.

"When you want to settle this thing, give us a call," declared Thomas E. McDonald, business manager of the Building Trades Council, when negotiations were broken off after a 3½ hour session Monday.

The employers' group has offered 16½ cents more an hour for a one-year contract and the unions are asking 17½ cents. Hourly rates for the workers involved range from $2.65 to $3.47½.

The building trades workers from Cuyahoga, Lake, Geauga and Ashtabula counties originally sought 25 cents more an hour and the BTEA offered 7½ cents.

3 Cities Seek Federal Aid In Clearing Debris

CLEVELAND (AP) — A decision was expected today as to whether Lakewood, Cleveland and Rocky River will qualify for federal aid in clearing debris of a multi-million-dollar windstorm from public property.

Lakewood councilmen met in special session Monday to proclaim a state of emergency and draft a resolution asking Gov. Frank J. Lausche to originate an appeal for $600,000 of federal funds.

Cleveland and Rocky River, also hard hit by Saturday night's windstorm which killed six persons, joined Lakewood in seeking federal aid.

The Cleveland Council passed an emergency resolution authorizing Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze and Gov. Lausche to apply for an undetermined amount of federal funds.

Rocky River's Council declared a formal state of emergency and asked the governor to apply for $30,000 in federal aid.

Total storm loss has been estimated at six million dollars in Lakewood, 2½ million in Cleveland, 1½ million in Rocky River and about $500,000 in Brooklyn.

Seven of the 71 persons injured in the storm still were in hospitals Monday night.

Vincent M. Demello, Cleveland municipal light commissioner, said about 1,500 homes still are without electricity.

Mrs. Shannon was shot last Oct. 13 while watching television in the rest home she and her husband, Donald, operated here.

MacNamara's wife said following the verdict that her husband "couldn't hurt a cat or a dog."

The defendant made no comment. Said Mrs. MacNamara: "I don't feel my husband is guilty. I know him too well. And I know it was accidental because he was deathly afraid of the Shannons. He only meant to frighten them."

Mrs. MacNamara and two of her five children witnessed the fatal shooting.

Sen. George To Represent Ike To NATO

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retiring Sen. George (D-Ga.) has agreed to represent President Eisenhower in talks aimed at broadening the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in nonmilitary fields.

Announcing this Monday night, the White House said that after the 78-year-old Georgia Democrat leaves the Senate he also plans to advise Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles on "the general development and implementation of bipartisan foreign policy."

George, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, has been regarded as the Democrats' chief foreign policy spokesman in Congress.

Last week, George made known his decision not to seek re-election to a sixth term in the Senate. Almost simultaneously, Eisenhower asked him to take on the job of helping mold NATO into an organ for cooperation in other than military fields.

The White House statement said George told Eisenhower he plans to retain his "present post in the Senate for the time being," but that he would be available after Congress adjourns "to perform any duty consistent with his senatorial responsibility that might be requested by the President."

Such material in most cases may substitute for personal appearances by Eisenhower. He has said he plans only limited campaign activity.

The effectiveness of such photographs and letters may test the validity of a contention by Democratic Chairman Paul M. Butler that Eisenhower's vote appeal has "sagged" and what is left of it can't be transferred to other candidates.

South Koreans To Vote Today

Rhee Appears Sure Of A Third Term

SEOUL, SOUTH KOREA (AP) — A big turnout of some nine million South Koreans voted today for a president and vice president. President Syngman Rhee, opposed by an ex-Communist and a dead man, appeared certain to win a third four-year term.

Only scattered minor violence was reported across the country, in contrast to hectic pre-election riots and fights which killed at least one demonstrator and sent Rhee's living opponent into hiding.

Rhee, 81, and the only president Korea has ever had, voted with his Austrian-born wife as soon as the polls opened at 7 a. m.

The Progressive party candidate, ex-Communist Cho Bong Am, has been in hiding for 10 days, and did not vote. A Progressive spokesman said Cho feared he would be assassinated.

Although a Rhee landslide appeared in the offing, it was expected a sizable sympathy vote would be cast for the late P. H. Shinicky. The Democratic party's candidate and the only man given an outside chance against Rhee, Shinicky died May 3 of a cerebral hemorrhage. His name remained on the ballot, but votes for him were invalid.

The opposition parties leveled new charges of pressure tactics against the government and Rhee's party.

The Democrats claimed one of their members was beaten at Yangpyung, near Seoul, and that the police arrested 12 of the party's campaign workers without cause Monday near Seoul and did not release them until noon today.

Conviction Of GI Ex-POW Thrown Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Army review board has thrown out the court-martial conviction of Sgt. James C. Gallagher on charges of killing two fellow U.S. soldiers in a Communist prison camp in Korea.

The three-man board's action is subject to review by the U.S. Court of Military Appeals, which may approve its findings or reinstate the original life sentence.

Gallagher, 24, of Brooklyn, N.Y., is confined at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan. He was sentenced Aug. 19, 1955, to life imprisonment after being convicted of throwing two fellow prisoners of war out of a hut and leaving them to die in subzero weather.

The prisoners were Cpl. John W. Jones of Detroit and Cpl. Donald T. Baxter of Waukon, Iowa.

The review board held that the court-martial lacked jurisdiction. It said Gallagher was discharged after his enlistment expired Oct. 27, 1953, and that he re-enlisted the following day. The board, citing a 1949 Supreme Court decision, said this constituted a break in his service which precluded bringing charges against him based on events in his previous enlistment.

The old "party line" took a lot of criticism, but performed a real service in its day.

Of course, today's telephones are a lot more efficient than the old hand-cranking models. For the best in banking service, phone ED 2-4621.

Board to Check Endowments Of Ohio Colleges

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The State Board of Education will investigate those colleges now approved by the board as teacher training institutes to see if they conform with the board's endowment requirement.

At its meeting Monday night the board appointed a three-member committee to review the situation after board President Robert A. Manchester, said there was evidence that some schools were operating under a liberal interpretation of the requirement that they show evidence of a productive endowment of $500,000.

The board also voted down a resolution to "instruct" the State Controlling Board to withhold state subsidies to a school district "which operates a racially segregated school."

The resolution was sponsored by Charles P. Lucas of Cleveland who cast the only affirmative vote on the measure.

Board member Loren E. Souers Jr., of Canton argued that the school board had "no power whatsoever over the Controlling Board to withhold funds" and that "there has been no proof nor an offer of proof" that "remnants of racially segregated schools exist in Ohio."

In another action the board voted temporary charters to be given 53 high schools which must continue to operate under such temporary charters until their building programs have been completed.

The board also postponed until today consideration of recommendations to approve tentative reservation of funds for 11 school districts and construction fund grants to six other districts.

Indians Nudge Yankees 3-2 On Smith's 9th-Inning Homer

Lemon Pitches Three-Hitter

Victory Puts Tribe Into League Lead

CLEVELAND (AP)—Outfielder Al Smith, his aching thigh bound in bandages, and pitcher Bob Lemon, who's had a sore leg muscle for weeks, paroled out a little misery Monday night to the New York Yankees.

Smith's ninth-inning home run and Lemon's three-hit pitching boosted the Cleveland Indians to the top of the American League for the first time this season. The Yankees had been up there since May 3.

The major leagues' only game of Monday had been tied at 2-all from the fourth inning when Smith took his stance against left Johnny Kucks to lead off the bottom of the ninth. In his 11 previous at-bats Smith had been hitless.

The count was 2-2 when Smith brought 18,950 fans to their feet shouting by slapping a liner that cleared the left field fence with not much to spare.

"He came in with a curve ball, pretty low," Smith said afterward. "Guess I'd almost forgotten how good it feels to connect like that."

Both runs off Lemon were homers, just as both were homers in his victory at New York last week. The 35-year-old righthander had held the Yanks hitless until Gil McDougald lashed one over the left field fence in the fourth. On the very next pitch Mickey Mantle slapped his 12th homer of the year over the right field fence. Elston Howard's fifth-inning single was the only other New York hit. Lemon was pleased he gave only three walks.

"With these guys you try to avoid walks," he explained, "because the next one can always kill you with a home run. But you can't make the pitches too good, either. It's a nine-inning cliff-hanger with 'em."

In losing three of four with the Tribe so far, the Yanks have scored eight of their 12 runs on home runs with nobody on base.

The victory was Lemon's fifth straight, all complete games, against one loss, the opener to Chicago. He pitched only five complete games all last year. The triumph had added sweetness for him because it lifted his lifetime mark against New York to 26 won, 25 lost.

The 23-year-old Kucks gave only six hits, fanned six and walked one. Chico Carrasquel's third-inning single was the game's first hit. Carrasquel took third on Lemon's single and scored on a force out.

In the fourth, Vic Wertz doubled off the right field fence and came home on Carrasquel's single with two out.

Ohio State, Ohio U. Rule Golf Tourney

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State University and Ohio University dominated the 36-hole Ohio Intercollegiate Golf tournament here Monday.

The Ohio State "A" team successfully defended its title with a 610 total while the Ohio University "A" team carded 648 to take second place.

John Carroll, placing fifth in actual scoring with 665, was awarded the third place trophy because of a tournament rule that no school can win more than one trophy.

The Ohio State "B" team was third in the scoring with 654 while the Ohio University "B" team was fourth with 635.

Mel Woelfling of the Ohio State "A" team and his teammate Rick Jones won the individual scoring honors. Woelfling turned in a par 72 on the first round and 75 on the second for 147. Jones made the course in 72-150.

Harland Knosher of Miami with 72-82-156 was third high individual scorer.

Lemon Completes Fifth Straight For Fifth Win

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press
Last season you had to give odds to bet Bob Lemon wouldn't pitch a complete game. Now the big guy has gone the distance five straight times for the Cleveland Indians and has won 'em all — including two in a row over the suddenly not-so-torrid New York Yankees.

Lemon, troubled by a bum leg, had only five complete games all last season, although he won 18, and his last was on Memorial Day. This spring, it looked like more of the same when the veteran righthander lasted only seven innings while losing to Chicago 2-1 opening day. It was the 21st consecutive time he had failed to finish.

He hasn't been shelled—or beaten—since, wrapping up Detroit twice, Baltimore once and then beating the Yanks in the rubber game of a three-game set last Thursday.

Monday night, he set the Yankees down on three hits for a 3-2 victory. Al Smith poked a lead-off homer in the ninth to hoist the Indians into the American League lead.

It was the only game scheduled in the majors Monday. The Tribe made it their sixth triumph in the last seven games. They gained a 10-percentage-point edge on New York, which has lost four of six.

Lemon made only two mistakes Monday night. In the fourth inning Gil McDougald and Mickey Mantle powered back - to - back home runs for a short-lived 2-1 Yankee lead. The only other hit off the 35-year-old Lemon, who struck out five and walked three, was a fifth-inning single by Elston Howard.

The Indians had almost as much trouble against young Johnny Kucks as the Yanks had with Lemon. The 22-year-old right-hander had done right well with a five-hitter until Smith, who almost didn't start because of a sore leg, tagged the big blow in the ninth. It was Smith's lone hit.

Cleveland got the game's first hits in the third, scoring on singles by Chico Carrasquel and Lemon and an infield out. The Tribe squared it at two-all in the fourth on a lead-off double by Vic Wertz and single by Carrasquel after Smith had become one of Kucks' six-strikeout victims and Rocky Colavito had grounded out.

The victory, his 186th (only teammates Bob Feller and Early Wynn have more among active major league pitchers), gave Lemon an edge on the Yankees for the first time since 1949. He now is 26-25 lifetime (11 years) against the Bombers—the only team he didn't have a winning record against at season's start.

Only Boston's Mel Parnell (16-14) and Detroit's Steve Gromek (18-13) have edges on the Yanks over similar periods.

Deming Jets, Youngstown Kitchens, Eljer, Demings Win Softball Games

The Deming Jets, Eljer, Youngstown Kitchens, and Demings AA squad captured wins last night as the 1956 softball season opened at Kelly Park.

The Jets, trailing the Deming Marvells 5-2 going into the last of the seventh, came up with a 4-run attack to nip their opponents 6-5 in a thriller.

Joe Hrovatic, Don Fife and Gardner led the winning rally for the victors. Don Fife was also the winning hurler, while Bill Ehrhart took the loss.

Eljer swamped Bliss 8-0 in the second game played. The winners tallied 3 runs in the first and third innings and one each in the fourth and fifth. Bill Odorizzi accounted for 4 of Eljer's runs with a home run and a triple. Patterson was the winning pitcher.

In the third fray Youngstown Kitchens slammed out 15 hits as they routed Electric Furnace 9-4. Youngstown Kitchens had a big 5-run streak in the third inning and spread the others out through the game. Sonny Guthrie chalked up the win, while Beanie Allison received the loss.

Demings gathered the win in the final game as they scored 15 runs on 16 hits to stop Bayard Grange, who scored 8 runs. After the first three innings Demings led 1-0, but they exploded in the fourth with an 8-run spree and collected 2 in each of the following innings as they completely routed their foe. Duane Ehrhart and Wayne Hahn carried the pitching burden for Demings, with Ehrhart getting the win.

Tonight's Schedule is as follows:

5:45, Happy Days vs Chick Morgan.

Redlegs Open Series Against Pirates Tonight

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP)—There's a lot of confusion about the Cincinnati Redlegs—in fourth place in the National League and only a couple of games out of first.

The confusion stems from a number of things.

First, there is the inability of Joe Nuxhall to hit a winning strike. He hasn't won a game in six starts but is due to try it again tonight when the Reds open a series against the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Second, is the case of Ted Kluszewski. He was benched for seven games for not being in condition. When he got back in the game he started making errors and his hits usually came when they weren't needed. He was benched again Sunday for the second game of a disastrous doubleheader against the Milwaukee Braves.

Third, is the item of possible deals between now and the June 15 deadline. There have been rumors that catcher Smokey Burgess was trading bait but Monday the Reds sent No. 3 catcher Matt Batts to Nashville of the Southern Association.

Even though Batts' release was on a 24-hour recall basis, that would seem to knock out any Burgess deal unless another catcher is involved. It doesn't seem likely the Reds would leave themselves with only Ed Bailey and bonus player Al Silvera as catchers.

General Manager Gabe Paul says he still hopes to do some trading. And he indicated he'd be willing to sacrifice some of the Redleg power if he could get the right kind of a pitcher.

The Kluszewski situation is a strange one.

Manager Birdie Tebbetts says there is nothing wrong with Kluszewski physically.

Tebbetts said he had decided before Sunday's doubleheader to hold "Klu" out of the second game and that his two errors had nothing to do with the benching.

Kluszewski already has made seven errors this season—within one of his season total for 1955.

Tebbetts said Kluszewski would be back for tonight's game.

Rory Calhoun Stops Sandy In 1st Round

NEW YORK (AP)—Charley Goldman feels confident he'll have another champion to work with in another year in middleweight Rory Calhoun.

The tiny trainer of retired heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano believes he has the perfect candidate for new honors in the solidly built, 21-year-old from White Plains, N.Y.

"Another year ought to do it," said Charley after Rory blasted out ready Randy Sandy in 2:46 of the first round of a telecast bout at St. Nicholas Arena Monday night. "Rory's a hard worker and learns fast."

It was the 21st straight victory and 11th knockout for the undefeated youngster, a pro only 20 months.

Calhoun worked fast in making Sandy his fifth victim of the year. His first punch to the head — a flashing right — caught the 25-year-old New Yorker flush on the jaw and dropped him. He bounced up at two and stood for the mandatory count.

Right-hand blows to the jaw felled Sandy twice more for a total of three knockdowns in the round. After the third, Referee Ray Miller immediately waved his arms, signaling the technical knockout. Under New York rules, three knockdowns in a round and you're out.

YOU SAVE CASH AT A & P

by Al Parker

The fact that highway speed laws aren't really set by any scientific study of safety, but just seem to be numbers pulled from a hat becomes especially apparent when you drive through the U. S. You may cross two or three states in a day and find the speed limit jumping up and down between 50, 55 and 60.

The American Automobile Association recently proposed a new method for setting highway speed limits. The idea is to let motorists themselves decide what a safe speed is.

If it's done, like so many things these days with radar. The AAA has found that a safe speed is usually the speed traveled by 85 per cent of drivers on any particular road. So the AAA has asked that state-wide or province-wide speed laws, many of them unrealistically low, be abolished in favor of the speed that radar devices show is the usual speed of 85 percent of motorists.

Figures I noticed recently showed that, contrary to what I always believed, most highway accidents don't happen at high speeds. A study in Nebraska established that 73 percent of all accidents occurred at less than 30 miles an hour. When speed limits were raised in Nebraska, accidents were reduced and the average speed of the cars on the highway didn't change at all which only went to prove drivers were ignoring old speed limits anyway and driving at what they thought was a safe speed.

You just have to conclude that most drivers are ordinary people with good horse sense. We think so, so we have built our good name in the used car business by giving year-in, year-out value and satisfaction. Our best advertisement is the number of people who've come back time after time to buy cars from us.

Clubs Paring Rosters To 25 Players

By The Associated Press

With little more than 48 hours before the Thursday midnight deadline, major league clubs are in the process of paring their rosters to the 25-man limit with veterans like relief pitcher Jim Konstanty and outfielder Wally Westlake among the expendables.

Konstanty, the most valuable player in the National League with Philadelphia's 1950 pennant winners, was given his outright release Monday by the New York Yankees, who also placed shortstop Billy Hunter on the disabled list.

The Yanks now are down to their 26-man limit, getting a one-man allowance for returned serviceman Billy Martin.

Westlake was released by the Philadelphia Phillies, who now are over the limit. The Phils also returned southpaw Bob Ross to Chattanooga of the Southern Assn. while swapping infielder Bobby Morgan for St. Louis Cardinal infielder Solly Hemus as part of last week's five-pitcher deal.

The biggest deal was the sale of sore-armed righthander Billy Loes to Baltimore by the Brooklyn Dodgers for an estimated $20,000. The Orioles, to make room for Loes and Johnny Schmitz, purchased from Boston, sold righthander Mel Held to Minneapolis of the American Assn. and optioned Babe Birrer, another pitcher, to San Antonio of the Texas League.

Cincinnati sent relief pitcher Frank Smith and catcher Matt Batts to Nashville of the Southern Assn. to come within one of the 25-man limit. Cleveland optioned outfielder Dave Pope, exchanged for Hoot Evers from Baltimore Sunday, to Indianapolis of the American Assn. for a 31-man roster.

The Chicago Cubs were deciding where to ship outfielder Gale Wade and catcher Elvin Tappe to get down to the roster limit.

Nashua To Go After Money-Winning Record

NEW YORK (AP)—Nashua will go after Citation's all-time money-winning record in the Camden Handicap Saturday.

Trainer Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons said Monday that he was satisfied with the 129-pound impost Nashua will be asked to carry in the $25,000 mile and one-eighth event.

Nashua's earnings to date are $1,077,615, just $8,145 short of Citation's mark. If he wins the Camden Handicap, it will be worth about $20,000 to him.

Paper Discontinues Poll For All-Star Lineups

NEW YORK (AP)—Ford Frick, commissioner of baseball, said Monday the Chicago Tribune had decided not to conduct the poll of fans to determine starting teams for the annual All Star game.

Frick said baseball was anxious to continue selection of the teams by popular vote and plans were under way to set up new machinery for the purpose.

Questions, Answers

Q--Has the authorship of the Epistle to the Hebrews been established?
A--No one knows who wrote the book. It has been credited to Barnabas, Apollon, and others. Some scholars believe that it was written by the Apostle Paul, but this view cannot be traced back further than the 100's.

Cutback Seen Not Reducing Soviet Air-Atomic Power

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two U. S. Air Force leaders testified today that the announced cutback in Russian military forces will not reduce Soviet air-atomic power or the means of increasing it.

Both Secretary of the Air Force Quarles and Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chief of air staff, told a Senate subcommittee that the United States should exercise the greatest caution toward changing any of its own plans as a result of Moscow's announcement that 1,200,000 men will be cut from Soviet forces.

Secretary Quarles said that apparently only 30,000 of the announced Soviet reduction are in airborne divisions.

Chairman Chavez (D-NM) had asked whether the Soviet announcement would make any change in Air Force requests for funds for the fiscal year that begins July 1.

The answer to that was no. Twining said the requested 16 1/2 billions for the next 12-months was an "austere budget," that more money could be spent. But he said it would result in having "137 wings on board although some facilities will be short but the wings will be there in position."

Twining said initial Air Force requests were for about 20 billion dollars but this had been trimmed with an understanding that requests for the 1938 fiscal year would be larger.

Twining said the Soviet announcement may be an indication that the Russians "are trying to encourage peace in the world" but added:

"We should be careful to look at it from all angles."

Secretary Quarles said the Soviet move may be "a belated new look at their (military) forces."

Quarles said very little is actually known of details of the Soviet arms program, and said this country should be careful not to disclose too much of its defense program.

Sen. Young (D-ND) suggested the United States should "not put too much reliance upon the figures that the Russians put out."

Quarles agreed.

Leetonia Ballots Contract Awarded

EAST LIVERPOOL — The county election board awarded an $84.08 contract Monday afternoon to the Wilson Printing House of East Liverpool to furnish 4,425 ballots for a special election July 31 in the Leetonia Exempted Village School District on a $514,137 bond issue for new school construction.

The local firm submitted the lowest of three offers. The Dodge Publishing Co. of Salem bid $335 and the Reporter Printing Co. of Leetonia turned in an offer of $88.50.

The Leetonia area bond issue would run 23 years, requiring a 6 1/2 mill levy to pay the principle and interest. It would finance construction and equipment for a new 24-room elementary - junior high building; a multi-purpose building at the Washingtonville Elementary Building and a music room at the high school.

The board also awarded a contract for $108 to the Columbus Blank Book Co. of Columbus to furnish poll books and all other supplies except ballots for the nine precinct area. The charge is $12 a set.

Russia

ductions the Soviet government is striving to contribute to the practical carrying out of the disarmament program now under consideration in the United Nations," the announcement said.

"Other governments such as those of the United States, Britain and France wishing to contribute to the strengthening of peace cannot but follow this example."

"The Soviet government would be ready to consider the question of a further reduction in case the United States, Britain and France carry out a proportionate reduction in their armed forces and armament," the statement continued, adding:

"The Soviet Union believes that carrying out such measures would be a way of achieving disarmament and would establish real premises for the prohibition of atomic and nuclear weapons."

The Kremlin statement said that the program shows the Soviet Union "is a sincere and constant champion of peace and . . . relaxation of international tension."

The new demobilization program offers the Soviet Union tremendous benefits of relieving its tremendous manpower shortage in agriculture and industry and bringing heavy pressure on the Western Powers to reduce their armed forces.

Russia has announced its goal of overtaking the U. S. industrial potential within the next 10 to 15 years. Such a program will require all the manpower it can muster. Furthermore, Soviet agriculture has suffered severely from the drain of peasant youth into the armed forces.

The military cut also bolsters the Soviet propaganda drive for peaceful coexistence and carries a broad appeal to European socialists in line with the new Moscow campaign for "unity on the left," political coalitions of Socialist and Communist parties outside the Soviet bloc.

The reduction undoubtedly stems also from the now widespread belief that advances in thermonuclear warfare have made large standing armies an unnecessary luxury.

will be enforced by a special female police force sometimes dressed in readily recognizable police uniforms and sometimes in secret.

"Eviders of this mandate shall be turned over to Ye Female Key-stone Kops and Ye Awful Judges of Ye Kangaroo Court, there to be sentenced and punished in accordance with the magnitude of their offenses," the proclamation concluded.

A meeting of the Sisters of the Swiss has been called for the Grand Theater tonight at 8. Rules of the Sesquicentennial celebration will be explained. A style show will be held to give those women attending ideas for old costumes.

Many costumes saved from Salem's earlier days as well as some made recently and styled for Sesquicentennial will be displayed.

All those women who have their costumes ready are urged to wear them at the meeting.

Those attending tonight can join as charter members of the Sisters of the Swiss.

The "Sisters" committee urges all women to be present at the meeting.

FINED FOR RECKLESS DRIVING

Jerome A. Reid, 18, of Alliance, arrested by the State Highway Patrol for reckless operation, was fined $50 and costs in Mayor Dean B. Cranmer's court Monday.

Adair S. Evans, 51, of Oil City, Pa., forfeited a $52 bond for overloading.

FORFEITS BOND IN LISBON

LISBON — John J. Hurt Jr., of Grantown, W. Va., forfeited a $25 bond in Mayor Wilbur Warren's Court when he failed to appear at a hearing Monday on a charge of speeding. He was cited by village police.

son Baughman, Walter Everett, Mrs. Margaret Overholt, and Kenneth Jones.

Early was an applicant for the position, and, according to the board, had been interviewed twice for the job.

When queried by Al Fitch, board president, as to what group of persons circulated the petitions, Fitch replied that it was a "spontaneous committee" who wished to see Early in the business manager chair.

After assuring Fester that the board would consider the petitions, the board discussed the matter and decided that they had already extensively considered each applicant for the position. Fitch noted that the board had given Early more than usual consideration, and that Early's experience and qualifications tended more to the academic rather than the financial end.

Fitch later said that Early was "eminently fitted as a school man and capable," but that the business management "deals with dollars and cents in purchasing" and the duties are strictly out of the school field.

Vote to Hire Fadely

Following the discussion of the petitions, the board voted to hire Fadely, on a two-year contract, Fadely, who was present at the meeting, accepted the position, although he said his acceptance hinged on his release by the Rosewood Board of Education. He is expected to assume his duties about July 16.

A graduate of Bellevue High School in 1921, Fadely attended Denison University and Ohio State University. Eden Supported On Refusal To Discuss Crabb

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Eden won two votes of confidence by increased majorities Monday night on his refusal to give the facts about Britain's missing frogman and the government campaign to put down rebellion on Cyprus.

The Conservatives in the House of Commons beat back Labor motions against the government by an 87-vote margin on the frogman mystery and by 78 votes on the Cyprus issue. Nominally the government has only about a 60-vote majority over the combined Labor-Liberal opposition.

Despite strong Laborite criticism, Eden refused to give any more details about the disappearance of retired naval commander Lionel (Buster) Crabb. The 46-year-old war hero was last seen skimming in Portsmouth Harbor near the Soviet cruiser which brought Premier Bulganin and Nikita Khrushchev to Britain.

Implying that further disclosures might reverse a trend toward improvement in British-Soviet relations, Eden gravely told the House:

"In this business I do not rest only on the national interest. There is also a very important international interest."

"I confess that what I care is that the outcome of our discussions (with Bulganin and Khrushchev) should, in truth, prove to be, as I have said—the beginning of the beginning."

The government also expressed regret to the Soviets after they protested in a diplomatic note.

Queen

votes. Purchasers of these advance tickets will have an opportunity to vote for the contestant of their choice, and a savings will be extended to the buyer who purchases a ticket in advance.

This advance coupon is a general admission ticket which will be sold for $1 in advance sales, and later at the pageant grounds the week of the sequel at $1.50.

If a buyer later desires a reserved seat, he may pay 50 cents additional when he exchanges an advance coupon for an admission ticket. However, if the buyer desires a reserved seat at the pageant grounds, the charge per ticket will be $2. Queen candidates do not sell reserved seat tickets in the advance coupon campaign since that facet of ticket sales will be handled by headquarters personnel.

Also, since each child's ticket will be 75 cents, each advance coupon may be exchanged for two children's general admission tickets or one child's reserved seat which will be sold at $1.50.

Each holder of a patron ticket which sells for $5, is given 5,000 votes, five times as many as for the regular tickets.

These patron ticket stubs are to be deposited in the ballot box at the Grand Theater sequi headquarters.

The committee stresses that one girl cannot possibly sell enough tickets to become queen, and that perhaps relatives and friends, or a sponsoring group, can support her by selling tickets.

Each queen contestant receives a book of 11 coupons which are sold at $1 a coupon. The committee asks that only $10 be remitted on the sale of each book with the contestant using the additional $1 as a campaign expense fund. The commission is granted, however, only when a complete book is sold, and not on partially sold books.

Civic organizations, Sunday School classes, churches, clubs, lodges, and fraternities, may support the contestant and sell tickets for her in order to gain a majority of votes. Clubs benefit from the selling of tickets, too, since they retain a percentage of the number of books sold by their group.

Each contestant should insert her name on the cover of the book of coupons prior to turning it over to a person or group to sell. In that way, the contestant will be given the votes merited when books are turned in.

Already given an initial credit of 1,000 votes as a result of being nominated in the contest, each queen aspirant will be awarded 100,000 "incentive" votes at the discretion of the contest committee throughout the contest.

Any prospective queen may examine her records at any time at sequi headquarters where accurate records of every computation will be kept. Following the end of the contest, records of all contestants will be available to the public.

A vote bonus for early sales of advance coupons will be given to the contestant. If by Saturday noon, a contestant sells numerous tickets, she will be given a 25 per cent bonus of additional votes. If she hands in her ticket books by Saturday noon, May 26 she will receive a 20 per cent bonus, and by Saturday noon, June 2, she will be given a ten per cent bonus.

For the first three "turn-ins" of ticket books, the contestant should bring to headquarters only completely sold books and the total cost of each book. Partially sold books will be credited at the final turn-in to simplify record-keeping.

A court of six honor princesses will comprise the queen's court. The princesses will be girls with the next highest votes to those of the queen.

In addition to a week's vacation for two at Florida's Miami Beach, the queen will receive numerous prizes including an automatic dishwasher, furniture and dinnerware.

Miss Mary Jane Lesick, fashion consultant of the queen committee, and Wes Houser, another queen committeeman, described the prizes during last night's meeting.

Refreshments at the affair were served by the queen committee comprised of Hollinger and Houser, co-chairmen, and Mrs. Betty Hoprich, Mrs. Ruth Church, Mrs. Cleo Walker, Mrs. Jean Metzger, Karl Stoudt, Ernest Minth, Lawrence Clewell, William Butler, Miss Lesick, Frank Diehl, and Mrs. Elden Groves.

Queen contestants are Dorothy Aegerter, Betty Jane Beery, Joan Louise Bentley, Donna Blender, Bobbi Blount, Sylvia Brantingham, Carol Brautigam, Jacqueline Brell, Juanita Camp, Bessie Conner, Sandra Joan Costlow, Elaine Cavanaugh, Evie Copacia, Joyce Coppock, Carol Davis, Dixie DeJance, Jacqueline Dermotta, Marilyn Dodge, Pat Elliott.
